Ab Ovo

Clown-mime show
with live music

Four clown characters - one actor.
A musician.
And the audience.

That's all we need, so with some humor and poetry we can look at how differently we relate to things in the world - to love, work, each other, ourselves or just a rocking chair. All this because of our attitude to life and behaviour patterns.

Ab Ovo is a clown-mime show with live music, a story of the four classic temperament personality types. Using the archetypal attitudes of sanguine, choleric, melancholic and phlegmatic, 4 clown characters appear before us.
With humour and poetry, but without words, they provoke the question: how are our entrenched patterns of behaviour tied to our lives?

Is it our mission to accept ourselves as we are? Acknowledge when to stand up for ourselves, and when to give way to others? Or are we able to look at the world through a different lens, and push ourselves out of the prison of habit? Do we fix ourselves to certain habits only because of comfort or fear, or we are that person indeed? To what extent do we know our own personality at all? Where is the harmonious balance between accepting ourselves and being open to change?

Interactive, family show with live music.
